Case No. 2:23-cv-475

Complaint for Permanent Injunction, Monetary Relief, Civil Penalties, and Other Relief

Plaintiff, the United States of America, acting upon notification and authorization to the Attorney General by the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC” or “Commission”), for its Complaint alleges that:

1. Plaintiff brings this action under Sections 5(a)(1), 5(m)(1)(A), 12, 13(b), 16(a), and 19 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (“FTC Act”), 15 U.S.C. §§ 45(a)(1), 45(m)(1)(A), 52, 53(b), 56(a), and 57b; and Section 8023 of the Opioid Addiction Recovery Fraud Prevention Act of 2018 (“OARFPA”), 15 U.S.C. § 45d; which authorize Plaintiff to seek, and the Court to order, permanent injunctive relief, monetary relief, civil penalties, and other relief for Defendants’ violations of Sections 5 and 12 of the FTC Act and Section 8023 of OARFPA.

SUMMARY OF THE CASE

2. Defendant Michael Connors (“Connors”) has deceptively advertised and sold Smoke Away products as an effective way to quit smoking, using a network of interrelated companies that he owns or controls, including Defendants ProTouch Marketing, LLC; Woodford Hills, LLC; Oakhill Research, LLC; Evergreen Marketing, LLC; Sterling Health, LLC; and Clara Vista Media, LLC (collectively, “Corporate Defendants”). Defendants’ advertising has relied on false or unsubstantiated claims, including claims that Smoke Away products eliminate nicotine cravings and withdrawal symptoms and enable consumers to quit smoking easily and quickly.

3. Defendants have violated both the Federal Trade Commission Act and OARFPA, which was enacted in 2018. OARFPA prohibits unfair or deceptive acts or practices with respect to any substance use disorder treatment product or substance use disorder treatment service. Because tobacco-related disorders are substance use disorders, OARFPA’s prohibition applies to Defendants’ advertising.

4. This is not the first time the FTC has challenged Connors’ advertising of Smoke Away. In 2005, the Commission entered into a settlement agreement with Connors and one of his then-existing companies to settle allegations concerning the advertising of Smoke Away. Connors agreed, among other things, not to make claims about “the absolute or comparative benefits, performance, efficacy, safety, or side effects” of any smoking cessation product or program—including claims that any such product or program enables smokers to quit in 7 days or less; enables smokers to quit quickly, effortlessly, and permanently; or eliminates nicotine cravings—without competent and reliable scientific evidence substantiating those claims. See Stipulated Final Order for Permanent Injunction and Settlement of Claims for Monetary Relief as to Defendants Emerson Direct, Inc. d/b/a Council on Natural Health and Michael J. Connors at 4–5, F.T.C. v. Emerson Direct, Inc., No. 2:05-cv-377-VMC (M.D. Fla. Aug. 10, 2005).

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1337(a), and 1345.

6. Venue is proper in this District under 15 U.S.C. § 53(b) and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b)(1), (b)(2), (b)(3), (c)(1), (c)(2), (c)(3), and (d), and 1395(a).

PLAINTIFF

7. The United States of America brings this action on behalf of the FTC.

8. The FTC is an independent agency of the United States Government created by the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 41–58. The FTC also enforces OARFPA, 15 U.S.C. § 45d, which prohibits unfair or deceptive acts or practices with respect to any substance use disorder treatment service or substance use disorder treatment product.

"I am so grateful for Smoke Away. It saved my life, it saved my friendships, it saved my wallet."

[Transcript of embedded video:] I'm Deborah from Conway, South Carolina. I just want to say I am so grateful for Smoke Away. It saved my life; it saved my friendships; it saved my wallet. I have had over the last few years friends who have complained about the smoke smell in their clothing, and burning in their eyes. And I've become a bit of a pariah. And I decided when I saw it on the Internet, it looked very easy, it was guaranteed, and I thought what did I have to lose? So, I am ecstatic with the results of Smoke Away. I, after a few days, did not even look for cigarettes or crave them. It's been a month now, and since I've stopped smoking, my friends say my energy level is incredible. I look like a different person. They don't recognize me. I act like a different person. And I just want to say that I would recommend Smoke Away to anyone that wants to quit smoking. Not just try, but quit smoking. And Smoke Away, just thank you — thank you again for saving my life.

23. Defendants' radio advertisements encouraged consumers to inquire about Smoke Away by sending a text message to Defendants. Defendants responded to these text messages from consumers with the following messages, among others:

Text 1: Stop smoking with Smoke Away. To try it RISK FREE, just click the link below.

Text 2: Don't let cigarettes run your life. Take control today with Smoke Away. Just click the link below.

Text 3: Finally kick the habit quickly and safely, and without all those gums, patches, or prescriptions. To try Smoke Away RISK FREE, just click the link below.

Defendants Use Deceptive Testimonials to Advertise Smoke Away

24. Defendants have used video testimonials of individuals touting success in quitting smoking using Smoke Away. These videos, disseminated on YouTube and other websites, represent that the individuals depicted were bona fide Smoke Away users.

25. In truth, at least some of the individuals giving testimonials were not bona fide Smoke Away users but rather actors that Defendants recruited. Defendants provided the actors with a rough outline of what to say and encouraged them to take artistic license in preparing the testimonials so that they would seem “authentic.”

Defendants Market Smoke Away as a Substance Use Disorder Treatment Product

26. The Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fifth Edition, (“DSM-5”) identifies tobacco-related disorders as a class of substance-related disorders. According to the DSM-5, “tobacco use disorder” is “a problematic pattern of tobacco use leading to clinically significant impairment or distress, as manifested by at least two of [eleven identified criteria], occurring within a 12-month period.” Those criteria include: smoking more tobacco, or over a longer period, than intended; a persistent desire or unsuccessful efforts to cut down or control tobacco use; craving, or a strong desire or urge to use, tobacco; tobacco withdrawal; and continued tobacco use despite having persistent or recurrent social or interpersonal problems caused or exacerbated by the effects of tobacco (e.g., arguments with others about tobacco use).

27. Defendants have marketed Smoke Away as a tobacco use disorder treatment product. Smoke Away advertising has included repeated references to a smoker’s “habit” or addiction; urges or cravings; withdrawal symptoms; unsuccessful efforts to quit smoking, including the overwhelming percentage of smokers who fail to quit smoking; the desire to quit smoking; the social stigma associated with, or the interpersonal problems caused by, smoking; and the myriad benefits that will result from quitting smoking.

28. Based on the facts and violations of law alleged in this Complaint, the FTC has reason to believe that Defendants are violating or are about to violate laws enforced by the Commission because, among other things: Defendants engaged in their unlawful conduct repeatedly over many years; Defendants continued their unlawful conduct for over a year after learning that the FTC was investigating them; and Defendants ceased their unlawful activities only recently, months after they received a Civil Investigative Demand from the FTC, and only after FTC staff warned Defendants that each day they continued their unlawful conduct constituted a separate violation for which the FTC would seek civil penalties.

VIOLATIONS OF THE FTC ACT

29. Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a), prohibits “unfair or deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce.”

30. Misrepresentations or deceptive omissions of material fact constitute deceptive acts or practices prohibited by Section 5(a) of the FTC Act.

31. Section 12 of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 52, prohibits the dissemination of any false advertisement in or affecting commerce for the purpose of inducing, or which is likely to induce, the purchase of food, drugs, devices, services, or cosmetics. For purposes of Section 12 of the FTC Act, Smoke Away is a “drug” as defined in Section 15(c) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 55(c).

Count I: Deceptive Smoking Cessation Claims

32. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing, promotion, offering for sale, or sale of Smoke Away, including through the means described in Paragraphs 21–24, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that:

- a) Smoke Away products are effective smoking cessation products;
- b) Smoke Away eliminates nicotine cravings and withdrawal symptoms;
- c) Smoke Away enables cigarette smokers to quit quickly, including within seven days;
- d) Smoke Away enables cigarette smokers to quit easily;
- e) Smoke Away enables cigarette smokers to quit permanently;
- f) Spray Away by Smoke Away provides instant relief from nicotine cravings; and
- g) Smoke Away Homeopathic Pellets provide instant relief from nicotine cravings.

33. The representations set forth in Paragraph 32 are false or misleading or were not substantiated at the time the representations were made.

34. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph 32 constitutes a deceptive act or practice and the making of false advertisements in violation of Sections 5(a) and 12 of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 45(a), 52.

Count II: Deceptive Testimonials

35. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing, promotion, offering for sale, or sale of Smoke Away, including through the means described in Paragraphs 21, 24–25, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that the persons depicted in the video testimonials that appear on Defendants' websites and on YouTube—including the persons identified as Julia, Deborah, and Andrew—are bona fide Smoke Away users who have successfully used Smoke Away to quit smoking.

36. In truth and in fact, at least some of the persons who appear in these videos—including the persons identified as Julia, Deborah, and Andrew—are actors whom Defendants recruited and paid for their on-screen appearances, and who did not use Smoke Away to quit smoking as represented in the videos.

37. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph 35 constitutes a deceptive act or practice and the making of false advertisements in violation of Sections 5(a) and 12 of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 45(a), 52.

VIOLATIONS OF THE OPIOID ADDICTION RECOVERY
FRAUD PREVENTION ACT OF 2018

38. The Opioid Addiction Recovery Fraud Prevention Act of 2018 (“OARFPA”), Pub. L. No. 115-271, 132 Stat. 4082 (codified at 15 U.S.C § 45d), was enacted on October 24, 2018. OARFPA prohibits unfair or deceptive acts or practices with respect to any substance use disorder treatment service or substance use disorder treatment product. 15 U.S.C. § 45d(a). Section 8022 of OARFPA defines “substance use disorder treatment product” to mean “a product for use or marketed for use in the treatment, cure, or prevention of a substance use disorder, including an opioid use disorder.” Pub. L. No. 115-271 § 8022, 132 Stat. 4082.

39. As described in Paragraphs 26–27, Defendants have marketed Smoke Away as a substance use disorder treatment product.

40. OARFPA provides that a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 45d(a) shall be treated as a violation of a rule under Section 18(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 57a(a), regarding unfair or deceptive acts or practices. 15 U.S.C. § 45d(b)(1).

41. Section 19(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 57b(b), and Section 8023(b) of OARFPA, 15 U.S.C. § 45d(b), authorize this Court to grant such relief as the Court finds necessary to redress injury to consumers resulting from Defendants' violations of OARFPA.

42. Defendants have been making deceptive substance use disorder treatment claims since at least October 24, 2018, when OARFPA was enacted, and continued to do so, even after OARFPA's passage. In addition, on May 5, 2021, Commission staff specifically notified Defendants, through counsel, that Smoke Away products are substance use disorder treatment products as defined by OARFPA, and that any deception in the marketing of the Smoke Away products could render Defendants liable for civil penalties under OARFPA.

43. Defendants violated OARFPA, as described below, with the knowledge required by Section 5(m)(1)(A) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(m)(1)(A).

44. Each dissemination of an advertisement in which Defendants violated OARFPA by making one or more of the deceptive representations described below after October 24, 2018, constitutes a separate violation for which Plaintiff seeks monetary civil penalties.

45. Section 5(m)(1)(A) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(m)(1)(A), authorizes this Court to award monetary civil penalties for each violation of OARFPA.

Count III: Deceptive Smoking Cessation Claims With Respect to a Substance Use Disorder Treatment Product

46. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing, promotion, offering for sale, or sale of Smoke Away, including through the means described in Paragraphs 21–24, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that:

- a) Smoke Away products are effective smoking cessation products;
- b) Smoke Away eliminates nicotine cravings and withdrawal symptoms;
- c) Smoke Away enables cigarette smokers to quit quickly, including within seven days;
- d) Smoke Away enables cigarette smokers to quit easily;
- e) Smoke Away enables cigarette smokers to quit permanently;
- f) Spray Away by Smoke Away provides instant relief from nicotine cravings; and
- g) Smoke Away Homeopathic Pellets provide instant relief from nicotine cravings.

47. The representations set forth in Paragraph 46 are false or misleading or were not substantiated at the time the representations were made.

48. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph 46 constitutes a deceptive act or practice with respect to a substance use disorder treatment product in violation of Section 8023(a) of OARFPA, 15 U.S.C. § 45d(a).

Count IV: Deceptive Testimonials With Respect to a Substance Use Disorder Treatment Product

49. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing, promotion, offering for sale, or sale of Smoke Away, including through the means described in Paragraphs 21, 24–25, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that the persons depicted in the video testimonials that appear on Defendants’ websites and on YouTube—including the persons identified as Julia, Deborah, and Andrew—are bona fide Smoke Away users who have successfully used Smoke Away to quit smoking.

50. In truth and in fact, at least some of the persons who appear in these videos—including the persons identified as Julia, Deborah, and Andrew—are actors whom Defendants recruited and paid for their on-screen appearances, and who did not use Smoke Away to quit smoking as represented in the videos.

51. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph 49 constitutes a deceptive act or practice with respect to a substance use disorder treatment product in violation of Section 8023(a) of OARFPA, 15 U.S.C. § 45d(a).

CONSUMER INJURY

52. Consumers are suffering, have suffered, and will continue to suffer substantial injury as a result of Defendants’ violations of the FTC Act and OARFPA. Absent injunctive relief by this Court, Defendants are likely to continue to injure consumers and harm the public interest.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Wherefore, Plaintiff requests that the Court:

- A. Enter a permanent injunction to prevent future violations of the FTC Act and OARFPA by Defendants;
- B. Award Plaintiff monetary civil penalties from Defendants for each violation of OARFPA alleged in this Complaint;
- C. Award monetary and other relief within the Court's power to grant; and
- D. Award any additional relief as the Court determines to be just and proper.

Respectfully submitted,

Dated: June 29, 2023

- SMOKE AWAY PREMIUM MAX KIT: Our premium max Kit cleanse is an all-natural supplement kit that is designed to help ease the process of quit smoking while also cleansing the lungs. This stop smoking formula helps you quit smoking by reducing your craving for smoking, purifying yourself, and detoxing the body of the toxins that are left in your body because of years of smoking.
- SMOKE AWAY FORMULA 1: The all-natural herbs in Smoke Away Formula 1 function individually and synergistically to keep you calm and comfortable even when your body is throwing you harsh withdrawal symptoms. For almost 20 years, stop smoking has assisted smokers in quitting for good, and Formula 1 has been a part of the program since the beginning.

There are two ingredients in this product that are not suitable for those who have sensitive stomachs and/or intestinal issues. Were this information stated on the web site or the back of the bottle shown on web site so that one can avoid time and money and not order the product. One is also expected to take to many tablets at one time. The idea is good but needs more work.

Reviewed in the United States on August 17, 2019

I read all the reviews I could find on this product before buying.

Things to consider or were not mentioned---

What I experienced.

Yes, it does upset your stomach and make you feel kinda sick. *

Bad headaches. *

Bad and unusual dreams. *

I am not prone to any of these.

No one mentioned this pills are the size of horse pills.

So, if you have a hard time taking pills or swallowing this could be a real problem.

My honest review. It is 10.00 dollars cheaper on Amazon! Good Luck.

Update-

Good luck on getting your money back!

A month later and still no refund!

Not A Smoker Anymore after 42 years

I started taking the formular 1 for only 1 week and then started with the aromatherapy oil and it has worked for me. I am 2 weeks and 1 day smoke free (no vaping either) and feel fantastic. I started using a vibrating plate to keep the weight down (because I am eating more). I carry the aromatherapy oil with me always and realize that I'm starting to use it less and less. I was a smoker off and on since I was 18 (while going into the military) and now I am 60 ...too many years for off and on smoking. I am telling everyone that I AM NOT A SMOKER anymore! Because of Smoke Away!

Why Replace Nicotine... With MORE Nicotine?

- All Natural
- No Nicotine
- No Drugs
- 100% Money Back Guarantee

Replacing Nicotine With More Nicotine is Not Our Answer

Our philosophy is simple--in order to quit smoking, you have to get off the nicotine, and that can be VERY unpleasant for many smokers. So we wanted the Smoke Away program to be an all-natural solution that did not replace one expensive habit for another. The herbs in Smoke Away's Formula 1 work independently and synergistically to help your body rid itself of nicotine naturally, while at the same time keeping you calm and comfortable.

Smoke Away's Maintenance formula will help to replenish the vitamins and minerals that years of smoking have zapped out of your body, and the homeopathic medicine and aromatherapy are formulas that are used to combat any urges you may get while you're becoming a non-smoker.

Did You Know:

Less than 5% of people who try to quit without a quit-smoking aid succeed

 Kenneth Brown I tried the smoke away system and was very skeptical. But I tried anyhow. The second day I ran out of cigarettes and haven't smoked since. That was 6 months ago today!

I tell people about this every time someone says

Does Smoking Help You Cope with Stress?

If you or someone you love is a smoker, you know that a major reason for lighting up is STRESS.

What if we told you smoking cigarettes may not actually help you cope with stress in the way you think? Keep reading as we explore the link between stress and smoking.

Why You Reach for a Cigarette When You're Stressed

Many smokers want to quit, but struggle because the urge to smoke becomes overwhelming under stress. You likely need a cigarette to keep calm in the face of chronic stress from work, family obligations, relationships, finances or traffic. Even in the absence of obvious stress, smoking is used for relaxation.

This may be due to a few stress-relieving behaviors.

- Smoking causes a slow and repetitive breathing pattern and arm movement that may feel meditative – inhale-hold-exhale-repeat.
- Smokers take more breaks during the day, which tend to be outdoors. This ritual is an escape from daily pressures.
- It provides a distraction and something to do.

- It provides a distraction and something to do.

However, the main reason smoking is associated with stress-relief is a chemical one. Smokers are physically addicted to the nicotine in cigarettes, a mood-altering compound that reaches the brain just seconds after inhalation. Dependence develops quickly, so regular doses of nicotine improve mood and take the edge off by reducing cravings and withdrawal symptoms.

Smoking also causes the release of a brain chemical or neurotransmitter called dopamine. Dopamine works on the reward center of the brain, making us feel happy, relaxed and motivated. If our mental state is intolerable, this can offer a massive relief. Unfortunately, the feelings are short-lived and the continual triggering of dopamine leads to depleted brain levels. You need more cigarettes to get the same feeling.

As you can see, the temporary relief from nicotine withdrawal and the subsequent release of dopamine makes you think you're coping with stress.

Smoking Worsens Stress

Smoking does nothing to relieve the stress of daily life. It may result in a perceived feeling of calm and relief, but it's a false sense of security. The physical and mental withdrawal symptoms that occur between cigarettes create a chronic source of stress, irritability and anxiety.

Research has found that while the majority of smokers believe that smoking helps them deal with stress, adult smokers have higher levels of stress than non-smokers. Smokers are actually more likely to experience panic attacks and poor mental health. Interestingly, those who quit smoking report lower levels of stress overall.

According to experts at the Cleveland Clinic, nicotine causes stressful physical changes in the body. Blood pressure rises, heart rate goes up, blood vessels constrict and the brain and body are deprived of oxygen.

According to experts at the Cleveland Clinic, nicotine causes stressful physical changes in the body. Blood pressure rises, heart rate goes up, blood vessels constrict and the brain and body are deprived of oxygen.

Smoking may also impair a healthy stress response by depleting levels of the potent antioxidant and essential nutrient, vitamin C. This is relevant because our adrenal glands contain one of the highest concentrations of vitamin C in the body. If we have sub-optimal levels, it impacts our ability to regulate the production of the stress hormone cortisol.

Final Thoughts

The belief that smoking relieves stress is a myth. Satisfying the addiction simply tricks us into thinking we can cope with stress.

Understanding this is key to quitting cigarettes permanently and learning how to positively and sustainably manage stress and feel better.

Smoking and COVID-19

Smoking Increases COVID-19 Risk and Worsens Outcomes

Are you concerned about your risk of contracting the Coronavirus?

This rapidly spreading virus is currently causing havoc around the globe. In March 2020, the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the Coronavirus a pandemic. As of mid-April 2020, there have been more than two million cases worldwide, with China, the United States, Italy, Spain, France and the United Kingdom worst affected.

As death rates climb, smokers are in the spotlight for being at increased risk.

What Is The Coronavirus?

The Coronavirus – or SARS-CoV-2 – is part of a large family of crown-shaped viruses that cause nasty respiratory infections. This new strain was first identified in December 2019 in China, where it appears to have originated at a seafood market in Wuhan Province.

Coronavirus is easily transmitted from person-to-person via droplets – even before any symptoms have presented – and has shocked the world by spreading like wild-fire.

COVID-19 Symptoms

The respiratory disease that results from Coronavirus infection has officially been named COVID-19. Symptoms typically appear anywhere from three to fourteen days after exposure and may include:

anywhere from three to fourteen days after exposure and may include:

- Sore throat
- Dry cough
- Difficulty breathing
- High fever
- Headache
- Body aches

In severe cases, COVID-19 causes extensive inflammation and cellular damage in the lungs of vulnerable sufferers. This includes pneumonia, acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) and other complications that deprive the body of oxygen and can be fatal. For this reason, smokers are at major risk and are being urged to quit.

COVID-19: Smokers are at Higher Risk

The research is clear: smoking cigarettes damages the lungs and puts you on the back foot when it comes to contracting and recovering from respiratory tract infections. This is especially true for COVID-19, which none of us have encountered before and have no immunity to.

Smoking impairs the body's natural defense mechanisms. It destroys the cilia, tiny hair-like structures in the airways and lungs necessary for removing mucous, debris and pathogens from the body before they cause damage.

Smoking rapidly depletes our body of vitamin C, the powerful antioxidant and immune-boosting essential nutrient. Without sufficient vitamin C, our immune function is impaired due to the poor functioning of white blood cells needed to fight infection.

Plus, the WHO has stated that constant hand-to-mouth contact when smoking increases risk. Frequent face-touching is a simple way to invite the virus into the body.

COVID-19: Smoking Worsens Outcomes

The outcomes for smokers who contract COVID-19 are bleak. Early research suggests that smokers are 2.4 times more likely to develop complications (like pneumonia and ARDS) and require mechanical ventilation.

Additionally, the majority of people who develop a severe case, require admission to ICU, or die from COVID-19 have at least one

Additionally, the majority of people who develop a severe case, require admission to ICU, or die from COVID-19 have at least one underlying health condition. This is relevant because smokers have higher rates of heart disease, lung disease, diabetes and cancer.

Final Thoughts

There is currently no known treatment for COVID-19. Certain medications can manage symptoms, but beating the illness depends largely on the health of the individual and the strength of the immune system.

In addition to sensible COVID-19 preventative measures – wearing a mask, hand washing and social distancing – now may be the ideal time to quit smoking. This may be challenging to do, but it could save your life.

Smoke Away and the 2005 FTC Matter

Back in 1997, when we first began to market Smoke Away, we wanted to provide a natural alternative to assist smokers in their efforts to quit smoking. It was important to us that we provide a program that did not add more nicotine to your body or replace one form of nicotine delivery with another. The Smoke Away program includes herbal, homeopathic and audio support. We were very comfortable that the Smoke Away Stop Smoking Support Program met our goal.

In the early months of the program's launch, we began to receive feedback from our customers about their experience with Smoke Away. Many were reporting that, with the help of Smoke Away, they were able to quit smoking within the first few days of their attempt. Based on this feedback, we began to market Smoke Away as a program that would help you quit smoking in 7 days, or your money back. We began to advertise with this message on radio and television. This was a very successful message and we continued to receive the same positive feedback from our happy customers.

In 2004, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) contacted us and challenged some of the claims that we were making regarding Smoke Away. While we were very comfortable with everything that was in our advertising, and that we were providing a program that was truly helping the public, there are rules regarding claims that can be made about herbal supplements unless one has sufficient scientific evidence that supports those claims. In the opinion of the FTC, we did not possess the scientific evidence necessary to make the claims we were making. The FTC asserted that we were misleading the public. We strongly disagreed and in order to settle the matter and avoid a long, expensive legal battle, we agreed to pay a fine and stop making the claims in question, while not admitting to any wrongdoing. This is a decision that many businesses face—whether to fight for what you know is right and possibly go bankrupt doing it, or pay a fine, admit no wrongdoing and stay in business. At no time did the FTC make any assertions about the quality or safety of the Smoke Away program and did not attempt to prevent us from continuing to market the program, as long as we discontinued the use of the claims in question.

We have continued to sell and market Smoke Away since the settlement with the FTC, and plan to continue for as long as there are people smoking cigarettes. We firmly believe that the Smoke Away program is a quality program that has provided a great service to smokers across the country. We are extremely proud of the fact that Smoke Away has helped so many people change their lives and

Hidden Dangers of Nicotine Replacement Therapy

Once hailed as a safe and effective way to stop smoking, nicotine replacement therapy has lost some of its luster. In recent years mounting evidence shows that not only is using nicotine gum, lozenges, and other nicotine replacement items not as effective as thought; its also a potential danger to the users and their loved ones. Here is a look at each nicotine replacement therapy tool and some disturbing facts about them that are lesser known.

In use since 1984, nicotine gum at first glance seems like a benign, convenient way to stop smoking. What could be easier than reaching in your pocket for a piece of gum and popping it into your mouth? Unfortunately, its just as addictive as cigarettes and that makes its ease of use a problem. There are a few things that can happen from being addicted to nicotine gum. As we already stated, it is very easy to use, and can be used in more circumstances than cigarettes. In today's world cigarettes have been banned in restaurants, movie theaters, busses, trains, airplanes and just about every public place. Nicotine gum is not banned anywhere, that means someone can take it at any time without the hassle that cigarette smokers endure. Taking nicotine gum whenever someone has the desire means that person is ingesting more nicotine than they would if they were a smoker. More of the nicotine enters the bloodstream from nicotine gum than cigarettes because it is being absorbed by large blood vessels located beneath the tongue. Higher amounts of nicotine in the bloodstream have been linked to heart attacks, panic attacks, and strokes. Jaw pain is another constant for those addicted to nicotine gum. Despite knowing that jaw pain is inevitable, some people just can't help popping the gum into their mouth whenever the urge arises. Nicotine gum also poses a danger to children who may think its a normal piece of gum. If a child consumes several pieces of nicotine gum, nicotine poisoning may occur. If a woman is breastfeeding, she can pass the nicotine along to her newborn and potentially cause real damage. It should be noted that all of the possible dangers of nicotine gum are also possible for nicotine lozenges, with the exception of jaw pain.

Nicotine Inhalers seem a sensible way to stop smoking, but it is perhaps the most ineffective way to stop smoking. Available only through prescription, nicotine inhalers are used for a period of three to six weeks by an individual trying to quit smoking. If the person has not been cured of their nicotine addiction after the use of an inhaler, they are likely to return to smoking. That is not the only issue with a nicotine inhaler, there are also some unpleasant side effects as well. Headaches, nausea, throat pain, cough, runny nose, heartburn, dizziness, anxiety attacks, depression and insomnia are all possible side effects of using a nicotine inhaler. As with nicotine with a nicotine inhaler, there are also some unpleasant side effects as well. Headaches, nausea, throat pain, cough, runny nose, heartburn, dizziness, anxiety attacks, depression and insomnia are all possible side effects of using a nicotine inhaler. As with nicotine gum, nicotine inhalers should not be used by breast feeding mothers who could pass it along to their babies. Overdosing on nicotine inhalers is a real possibility and can lead to blackouts or seizures.

It has been shown that over the counter nasal sprays can be addictive, even if they are just saline in a bottle. If harmless nasal spray can be addictive, how much more so then is a nicotine nasal spray? After just eight weeks it is instructed that the use of nicotine nasal spray stop. If a patient sees their doctor asking for more nicotine nasal spray, and the doctor denies that request, where is the patient to turn? One unfortunate scenario is that the person turns back to smoking and buys over the counter nasal spray to satisfy their new addiction. The same scenario could be played out again, except with another nicotine replacement therapy along with over the counter nasal spray. Too often potential pitfalls such as these are not discussed by physicians with their patients or made known by pharmaceutical manufactures. Nicotine nasal spray has the highest potential to not only fail at stopping nicotine cravings, but to cause another struggle that could be a lifelong one. There are, of course, numerous side effects associated with nicotine nasal spray. Some of the side effects are: Nasal irritation including blistering and tingling, nose bleeds, throat irritation, eye irritation leading to watery eyes, sneezing, cough, heartburn, a loss of taste and/or smell, among others. Overdoses can cause chest pain, irregular heartbeat, trouble breathing, severe dizziness, slurred speech, confusion and severe headaches.

Next, we come to nicotine patches (also called nicotine transdermal), still one of the most prescribed methods for smokers to quit smoking, and as with other nicotine replacement therapy physicians and pharmaceutical manufactures do not empower people to make decisions on their health, but conceal the dangers involved with nicotine patches. The side effects are numerous, but not unexpected with the nature of the product. Itching, redness, burning, stinging, and rashes are all are no surprise with nicotine patches, but there are more dire side effects as well. Nausea, lightheadedness, flushing, heartburn, severe headache, anxiety attacks, trouble breathing, depression, insomnia, chest pain, irregular heartbeat, slurred speech and weakness on one side of the body. It does not take much to overdose on nicotine patches, especially if they are the twenty-four-hour variety. Overdoses can bring about blackouts, confusion, seizures, drooling, shallow breathing, and auditory impairment. This product also should not be used by a mother while nursing her baby.

Not promoted as a method for nicotine replacement but taken as been taken as one by millions of people is vaping (or e-cigarettes). This method is very unwise due to the inconsistency from one vaping fluid to the next. Nicotine levels may be past what is legal and can even be deadly if used with nicotine replacement products. One of the all to frequent problems with vaping is nicotine poisoning. The average person does not know what levels of nicotine are dangerous or not. What seems a small amount of vaping liquid can quickly bring about nicotine poisoning. This danger was perfectly illustrated by an unknowing high school principal. According to the Bismarck Tribune, a high school principal in Jamestown, North Dakota had been alerted to students vaping in the bathroom. The principal went to investigate the reports, and when he came upon some students in the bathroom who had obviously been vaping, he confronted them. The students finally confessed, unable to hide the smell from the vaping and their guilt. The principal confiscated their e-cigarettes and vaping fluid. On one of the vials a small amount of fluid from the exterior got on the principal's hand. He thought confronted them. The students finally confessed, unable to hide the smell from the vaping and their guilt. The principal confiscated their e-cigarettes and vaping fluid. On one of the vials a small amount of fluid from the exterior got on the principal's hand. He thought nothing of it because it was such a minute amount, shortly thereafter he found himself nauseas and lightheaded. He had been poisoned by the highly concentrated nicotine in the vaping fluid. There have been numerous cases of children drinking vaping liquids because of the fruity or candy like smell that often comes from the products. In most cases the child ends up in the emergency room, but there are too many cases that result in death. The first such case happened in December of 2014, a two-year-old child consumed some of the vaping liquid and was found unresponsive. The unfortunate child was quickly rushed to a hospital where the doctors were unable to resuscitate him. Since then, as the popularity of vaping has risen, more cases of nicotine poisoning have taken place. Another hidden danger of vaping is the often-toxic chemicals that are in some vaping liquids. Formaldehyde, zinc, benzene, lead and other dangerous chemicals have been found in vaping liquids, all of which if ingested in high enough quantities can lead to very adverse reactions. Another detractor of vaping has been added to an ever-growing list. Science News Magazine reports that evidence shows vaping liquids may make bacterial infections resistant to antibiotics. There are many lung related bacterial infections and not being able to treat them will most likely lead to death. As with nicotine replacement products, the nicotine can be passed along to a baby by a mother who is vaping. There are still too many unknowns about vaping for it to be considered safe. The product is still so new that long-term studies wont yield results for decades. It has also been shown that the majority of people who vape in order to keep from smoking, end up using both vaping and cigarettes. The use of the two products together could prove deadly.

With all of the adverse reactions associated with nicotine replacement products, one has to wonder why their use is still recommended by doctors? It is true that nicotine replacement products are healthier than cigarettes, but they are not healthy in general. Is it apathy that lets doctors make recommendation for these products, or is it motivated by incentives? It is not easy to determine. One thing does stand out though, healthy alternatives to smoking are the way of the future and these nicotine replacement products are relics of the last century.

Myth of Healthy Vaping

You may be a smoker who wants to quit, and you have examined the various options that are available to you and have decided to start using an e-cigarette (vaping) as an alternative to standard tobacco products. The explosion of stores in strip malls and online may have convinced you it's a safe and healthy way to quit the smoking habit you've had for years, but there is a darker side to vaping. While it is true the United States Food and Drug Administration is requiring all new vaping liquid with nicotine be submitted for approval, there are still many liquids formulated prior to 2016 that remain on the market. If you are still considering vaping, then you should know the facts.

The first thing to know about vaping is that it can cause a condition known as "popcorn lung", condition brought on by a chemical known as diacetyl. According to Web MD diacetyl is used to provide a buttery flavor and viscous consistency in some of the vaping liquids. Popcorn lung's scientific name is bronchitis obliterans, and it is an unflinching disease. The condition leads to the damaging of tiny air sacs in the lung and the continual thickening of the lung walls and makes breathing labored and leading to a slow, miserable death. The name popcorn lung came from a case where workers at a popcorn factory were exposed to diacetyl being used to give the popcorn a buttery flavor; which lead to the workers contracting the condition. The incident lead to popcorn producers to remove diacetyl, yet there are many vaping liquids that contain it. According to a 2015 study by Harvard University, more than seventy-five percent of vaping liquids contain diacetyl. While this is a frightening fact about vaping, it is far from the only one.

One possible danger from vaping may be marketed as healthy by the manufacturers of vaping liquids. These so-called "vitamin vaping" liquids are ineffective because most vitamins, such as b-vitamins, need an enzyme inside your stomach to absorb them. Conversely alleged "healthy" heavy minerals like zinc can buildup in your lungs and cause a condition known as "metal fume fever" this condition can be mistaken for bronchitis or pneumonia and may be overlooked by physicians who are unaware that their patient is vaping. The buildup of zinc in your body can also lead to zinc poisoning, and if not detected right away it can cause, loss of feeling, paralysis, brain and liver damage, and even death. An excess of zinc in your body causes a drop in your copper levels and causes damage to the brain, spinal cord and nervous system, leading to a condition known as "human swayback syndrome". This condition is as bad as it sounds and winds up with most of its victims in a wheelchair or a coffin. With so little evidence that vitamin vaping is healthy and can be the opposite, its best to avoid starting altogether.

as bad as it sounds and winds up with most of its victims in a wheelchair or a coffin. With so little evidence that vitamin vaping is healthy and can be the opposite, its best to avoid starting altogether.

Zinc is not the only heavy metal found in vaping liquids. Lead, chromium, manganese, nickel, and more have been found in vaping liquids. These metals have also been found to escape from heating coils in e-cigarettes. In addition dangerous chemicals such as formaldehyde, benzene, arsenic, and others have been detected in vaping liquids. It's arsenic that should give you the most pause from that list. Arsenic is commonly used in agricultural setting to poison rats and insects, and its deadly effects are well known. Cary Grant panicked over his two aunts killing houseguests by poisoning them with the arsenic in the classic "Arsenic and Old Lace". Not just the stuff of movies, arsenic is a killer. Nausea and vomiting diarrhea, lesions on the skin, digestive problems, headache, are just a few of the complications caused by arsenic poisoning. Long term damage can occur to your lungs, liver, kidneys, bladder and digestive system. Just as bad is lead poisoning, high levels can cause damage to the nervous system, and cause seizures, and of course, death.

You may have seen some creature preserved in a jar full of formaldehyde in your high school science class. You would never dream of opening the jar and drinking it, but that is exactly what you are doing when you vape with solutions containing formaldehyde. Repeated exposure can result in blindness, asthma trouble, sinus cancer and death.

You may, or may not, have heard of benzene, but this chemical is used in a number of industrial applications such as manufacture of dyes, fabrics and detergents. It's also present in cigarettes, so if you thought you were escaping the harmful chemicals in cigarettes by vaping, benzene in vaping liquids counters that notion. Inhaling benzene over a long period of time can lead to inflammation of the lungs resulting in bleeding, fluid buildup, or both.

Another disturbing danger of vaping is the batteries in e-cigarettes exploding. This is a worldwide problem that has not been resolved yet. Hundreds of reports of exploding e-cigarettes have been reported with no signs of stopping. According to tv station WTOV a woman in Rockford, Wisconsin had an e-cigarette explode in her face, resulting in burns and a lost tooth. The BBC reports a man in Leeds had a spare e-cigarette battery in his pocket that exploded when it came into contact with his keys and coins. CNN notes that a thirty-eight-year-old man in Saint Petersburg, Florida had an e-cigarette explode in his face as he vaped and was killed by shrapnel from the explosion. The culprit was a lithium-ion battery, the same kind of battery famous for exploding in laptops and some Samsung phones. E-cigarettes with a larger capacity also have a larger battery. The larger the battery, the larger the explosion. Stop to think about holding an e-cigarette with a large tank to your mouth and then it explodes. The resulting injuries could range from burns to the face and damaged teeth, to blindness and death. Your family and property are at risk from exploding e-cigarettes as well. According to the Daily Mail a three-year-old boy in Mount Pleasant Utah was burned when a copper coil shot out of a charging e-cigarette and landed on his car seat. The materials that made up the car seat immediately caught fire and the little boy was burned, but fortunately it was confined to his arm.

Another myth about vaping is that is safe while pregnant, this is very misleading. Some doctors, when e-cigarettes first arrived on the market, stated that they were safer than cigarettes, and therefore held less risk. The conjecture was that if you were consuming

Another myth about vaping is that is safe while pregnant, this is very misleading. Some doctors, when e-cigarettes fist arrived on the market, stated that they were safer than cigarettes, and therefore held less risk. The conjecture was that if you were consuming dangerous chemicals, as long as it was in lower amounts it made vaping while pregnant less of a risk. According to Medical Daily, the idea of vaping while pregnant as safe changed in 2016 when the American Association for the Advancement of Science released a study stating that chemicals in vaping liquids could not only cause a child who had been exposed to them in the womb to have cognitive issues, but that it could cause damage to an embryo's nervous system. The study also stated that choosing a vaping liquid with no nicotine did nothing to reduce an embryo's chances of being damaged. Vaping liquids without nicotine have just as many harmful chemicals as above.

Vaping also poses a threat to children. In December of 2014 a one-year old boy from Fort Plain, New York became the first recorded death from vaping liquid. The liquid had been left out and the toddler picked it up and drank from it, which caused him to die from nicotine poisoning. According to Health Daily news the staggering number of children poisoned by vaping liquid between 2012 and 2015 was 8,270. The vaping liquids often come in brightly colored containers that give off an appealing aroma that many toddlers mistake for juice or soda, thus the temptation to drink them becomes greater. Ingesting nicotine through swallowing it is not the only danger facing children under six-year-old. Vaping can cause a child to be poisoned by breathing it in or getting it on their skin. The National Poison Data System gives out a shocking piece of information: over seven-hundred children are poisoned by vaping every month by swallowing it, breathing it in, or having their skin exposed to it. If you vape in a car with a child you are putting yourself and your child at risk to dangerous chemicals that can make your son or daughter very ill.

The bottom line is that even though vaping was thought to be safer than smoking at it's inception, there are mountains of data that show it may be just as bad, or worse, than smoking cigarettes. There are other dangers related to vaping not listed here, there were simply too many to list. A Google search of the dangers of vaping will give you further information on just how harmful vaping can be. It is hard to understand why anyone would want to keep vaping, not only putting their own health at risk, but their loved ones as well. Is vaping worth having a house burn down or developing a lifelong condition? Those are question that only you can answer.

Twelve Reasons Why You Should Stop Smoking

We all know smoking is bad for you. Your friends and family have been after you for years to stop smoking. You have told them in no uncertain terms that you are aware of the risks of smoking, and you accept those risks. But do you really know the problems smoking causes? There are a number of reasons to quit smoking but some are less obvious, but no less substantial. Here are twelve well-known and not so well-known reasons to stop smoking.

Cancer

The biggest of all reasons to quit smoking is cancer. According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) the majority of lung cancer cases are directly due to smoking, a fact most people know. What you may not know are the other types of cancer not normally associated with smoking, but are caused by it nonetheless. Colon cancer, leukemia, pancreatic cancer, stomach cancer and many other types of cancer are all linked to smoking.

Emphysema

One of the crueler diseases that can happen to a human being is emphysema. Emphysema does its damage by destroying the tiny air sacs in the lungs called alveoli. Over time emphysema will eat away these air sacs and harden the lungs. The resulting devastation this awful disease brings is a slow decent into death, suffocating and finding it harder every day to gasp in a little bit of air, until the end. It is not only the person with emphysema who suffers, family often have to take care of the patient at home. It is a daunting prospect to watch a parent slowly die, getting a little worse every day. If you want to avoid subjecting your loved ones to that level of agony, then quitting smoking is the best way to stop it.

Chronic Bronchitis

Suffering from chronic bronchitis is miserable. This disease is an inflammation of the airways in the lungs caused by repeatedly breathing in a harmful pollutant in the air. According to the Mayo Clinic the number one cause of chronic bronchitis is smoking. It causes a cough that last most days of the month, for three months, wheezing, shortness of breath, and pain in the chest, abdomen breathing in a harmful pollutant in the air. According to the Mayo Clinic the number one cause of chronic bronchitis is smoking. It causes a cough that lasts most days of the month, for three months, wheezing, shortness of breath, and pain in the chest, abdomen and sides due to repeated coughing. If you are an active person or have a job that requires you to be active, this disease will change your lifestyle because there is no cure.

COPD

You may have already known about smoking and emphysema, but did you know about smoking and COPD? Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease is a combination of emphysema and chronic bronchitis, more devastating than either on their own. Symptoms like coughing up mucus every day from a cough that will never go away, or tightness in the chest so strong it's difficult to breathe, make it difficult to deal with. Doctors may tell you that it can be managed, but the truth of the matter is there is no cure for COPD; it will result in a long goodbye that your family will have to endure.

Stroke

A stroke is caused by poor blood flow to the brain which results in the death of brain cells. The two major types of strokes are linked to smoking. The first type, ischemic, is caused by lack of blood flow to the brain caused by a blockage; the second is hemorrhagic which is bleeding in the brain when a blood vessel bursts or leaks. Smaller strokes known as Transient ischemic attack (TIA) also known as "mini-strokes" are also linked to smoking. According to Web MD the risk of stroke is increased by two and a half times from smoking. Strokes can cause major damage to the brain and leave victims unable to speak or have slurred speech due to paralysis on one side of the body. A stroke can also have an impact on cognitive function making it impossible for the sufferer to take care of their every day needs.

Heart Disease

Heart disease is a nasty condition where the blood vessels to the heart are narrowed from a buildup inside them of a substance called plaque. When a buildup becomes too great several conditions can occur. Angina, heart attacks, difficulty breathing may all be caused by heart disease. According to Web MD one out of every deaths from heart disease is caused by smoking. If it does not kill you right away, then you may suffer from symptoms that demand a lifestyle change. Smokers are two to four times more likely to develop heart disease. Women who are on birth control are even more likely to get heart disease than the general smoker. Heart disease can cause a punishing heart attack that, like a stroke, can severely impair the victim's cognitive function. With such high instances of smokers developing heart disease, it should be ample reason to quit smoking right away.

Pregnancy Problems

Smoking is a terrible idea if you are a pregnant woman. When you smoke while pregnant, so does your baby. That mix of tar, nicotine and other harmful chemicals found in cigarettes goes straight into the fetus's bloodstream. Once the chemicals have invaded the and other harmful chemicals found in cigarettes goes straight into the fetus's bloodstream. Once the chemicals have invaded the baby's bloodstream, then important things like oxygen and nutrients get muscled out. Without the proper nutrition in their bodies, fetuses can be at risk for premature birth, low birth weight, birth defects and even miscarriage. The risks don't stop after the baby is born, they are at an increased risk for asthma, colic and childhood obesity. Even more frightening is that your newborn will be a higher risk for sudden infant death syndrome. It is an unusual form of cruelty to subject a baby to cigarette smoke while pregnant.

Skin Problems

Smoking can cause multiple skin problems over time. Premature aging of the skin is directly linked to smoking. A popular way to illustrate the fact that a smoker's skin ages faster is to place two adult twins, one a long-time smoker and the other a non-smoker, side by side. The difference between the two twins becomes evident very quickly. The smoker may have loose skin under his or her eyes, blotchy age spots and sagging skin, while the non-smoker usually has none of these signs of aging. The age spots smokers are likely to develop are not confined to the face but can develop on the hands as well. The premature aging is even worse if you are a smoker and spend a lot of time in the sun, sunscreen is not enough to slow down the aging in these circumstances. Sagging skin on arms and sagging breasts are linked to skin damage from smoking and is enough to give even the most non-vain person pause. Tiny horizontal lines are likely to develop around the top and bottom of a smoker's lips, and depending of the frequency of smoking, can occur at the corners of the mouth as well. If you are interested in looking your best, then quitting cigarettes is an easy choice.

Teeth and Gum Problems

We have all seen heavy smokers who shock us when their smile reveals a set of crusted yellowing teeth; but there is much more dental damage brought on by smoking. According to the CDC you are twice at risk for gum disease if you are a smoker, the more you smoke the greater the risk and the longer you smoke increases your risk even more. Going to the dentist for gum disease may be ineffective and the treatments can be expensive, time consuming and painful. Better to quit smoking than subject yourself to such an unpleasant experience.

Male Issues Related to Smoking

There are a number of issues that men experience from smoking, but there are some specific male related problems. Men who smoke are more likely to experience baldness. According to Web MD studies in Taiwan draw a clear line between Asian men and baldness. Erectile Dysfunction is a risk factor for men who smoke because the chemicals contained in cigarettes have an effect on the blood vessels in the penis. Some studies show that quitting smoking will result not only cause the erectile dysfunction to stop, but will lead to firmer and faster erections. Smoking also causes inflammation in the testicles which leads to a lower sperm count and less of a chance to fertilize the female egg.

Female Issues Related to Smoking

Female Issues Related to Smoking

Not only are women who smoke at a higher risk than men to develop heart disease, there are other issues specific to women as well. While some men develop breast cancer, it is a greater risk for women and an exponentially greater risk for women who smoke. Getting a mastectomy is a very real and very emotionally jarring experience for women who get breast cancer, smoking makes it all the more likely. Older women who smoke are at a higher risk to break a bone than those who have never smoked. Smoking has also been linked to irregular menstrual cycles and early onset of menopause. If you are a woman, there is a greater urgency to stop smoking.

Quitting Smoking Makes You Feel Better

Quitting smoking results in better respiration, better blood flow, and more energy. It is no wonder that once you have quit smoking you will feel better. The results of quitting smoking can be felt right away and improve with time. With all the risks, and the fact that your quality of life will improve, why keep smoking?

Your Body Will Repair Itself Once You've Quit

Your Body Will Repair Itself Once You've Quit

Don't think it's too late. Once you've quit your body will almost immediately start to repair itself.

No matter when you first picked up that first cigarette, eventually you will say to yourself, "I have to stop smoking." Smoking is not a healthy activity over the long term and is responsible for increasing the chances of heart disease, heart attack, stroke and lung cancer. Most people are aware of this. However, knowing how your body reacts should you quit smoking, is not always so clear. We are going to briefly outline the main health issues associated with longer term smoking, and what happens when you stop. This is to highlight exactly why when we say it is never too late to stop smoking, we really mean it. There are true health benefits for everyone, and much quicker than you can imagine too, when you quit smoking.

The long term effects of smoking

In addition to the nicotine in cigarettes, tobacco smoke is harmful, and I doubt there is anyone who does not understand this today. Cigarettes contain around 600 ingredients, which when burned, create about 7000 different chemicals that are inhaled into the body. 69 of those are cancer causing chemicals, and of course, cancer is the most well known risk of smoking. The longer you smoke, the higher the risk of developing coronary heart disease and various cancers.

Inhaling smoke does damage to the respiratory system, it clogs up your lungs, which the body tries to clear through coughing, the longer you smoke, the less effective coughing becomes, and thus more frequently you cough. Nicotine also causes blood vessels to tighten, raising blood pressure and increasing the risk of cholesterol issues. This same effect also increases the risk of blood clots.

The list of associated health problems is long, sexual health can suffer, skin discoloration and premature ageing can be a side effect of long term smoking too. It can even lead to the body developing insulin resistance, putting you at risk of type 2 diabetes. Smokers also tend to suffer complications with diabetes much quicker than non-smoking diabetes sufferers.

What happens when you give up – a timeline of improvement

What happens when you give up – a timeline of improvement

When you kick the smoking habit, your body begins to heal from the effects of the nicotine and harmful smoke, and it happens surprisingly quickly. Many people are quite shocked with how fast things progress, and how good they feel, it doesn't matter how long you have been a smoker, giving up will make you feel better, and we are going to outline just how that happens.

- Day 1 – Within 20 minutes of stopping smoking your heart rate will begin to drop. Within 12 hours, the carbon monoxide within your blood will have returned to normal.
- Month 1 – From about 2 weeks after stopping smoking onwards, your risk of suffering a heart attack starts to drop, and your lungs will begin to work better. As a result, your coughing and breathing issues will also start to improve.
- Year 1 – By this point, the chance of you suffering coronary heart disease is just half that of someone still smoking
- Year 5 – Around this point, your risk of suffering a stroke is back to that of a non-smoker, it could be a longer time period depending on the length of time you smoked.
- Year 10 – By this point, the risk of lung cancer death is half that of someone still smoking. In addition, risk for other smoking associated cancers, such as mouth, throat, kidney, pancreas and bladder cancer also decreases.
- Year 15 – The chance of you suffering coronary heart disease is back to non-smoker levels.

As can be seen, even over a short time, you will feel the benefits of quitting smoking, just within the first year alone those changes will make you feel a lot better and increase your chances of living a longer and healthier life. That is perhaps one of the more troublesome effects of smoking, you feel unhealthy, but mostly do not realise it, simply because it never goes away. The change when giving up is one of the things most people talk about, how 'well' they feel. It doesn't take long for the body to rid itself of the nicotine and other toxins that have accumulate over years of smoking, and you will feel better.

toxins that have accumulate over years of smoking, and you will feel better.

With genuine health benefits almost immediately, kicking the habit has benefits for every smoker. Your age, the amount you smoke and how long you smoke really doesn't matter. Quitting smoking will help you, and you will feel the benefit today.

Nine Little-Known Effects of Smoking

Most Floridians know that smoking can cause various types of cancer and promote premature aging in multiple ways. However, many people have yet to learn about several other health problems linked to cigarettes:

1. Smoking has the potential to degrade eyesight and even trigger permanent blindness. It raises the likelihood of cataracts and macular degeneration. Tobacco can prevent sufficient blood from reaching a person's retina. Some smokers eventually need eye surgery.
2. Cigarettes frequently cause wounds to heal slowly. This increases discomfort and boosts the risk of additional tissue damage. After smokers become injured or undergo medical operations, there's a higher chance that infections will develop.
3. Some people have genes that promote psoriasis, an unsightly and itchy skin problem. If the same individuals smoke cigarettes or cigars, it greatly increases the probability of developing this condition. Tobacco products often leave skin pale and wrinkled as well.
4. Cigarettes raise the risk that a person will suffer from type 2 diabetes, especially if he or she smokes on a regular basis. The likelihood increases by approximately 35 percent, according to the Department of Health and Human Services.
5. Smoking creates distractions that contribute to about five out of every 1,000 auto accidents. Although cigarettes trigger far fewer crashes than cellphones, they cause more accidents than heating and cooling adjustments.
6. Cigarettes weaken Floridians' immune systems. This increases their vulnerability to many different illnesses and boosts the severity of symptoms. It also makes people susceptible to respiratory infections, according to the federal government.
7. Tobacco products promote bone loss and make fractures more likely to occur. Women often undergo menopause at younger ages when they smoke. This increases the probability that a person will develop osteoporosis.
8. Studies show that smokers suffer from lupus more frequently than other citizens. This persistent and painful disease harms tissue in many parts of a person's body. It can trigger considerable amounts of inflammation. The risk quickly reduces when people quit smoking.
9. Lupus isn't the only autoimmune disease that tobacco products cause. They increase the likelihood of rheumatoid arthritis by 100 percent. Numerous smokers suffer from Crohn's disease as well. This condition has the potential to induce fever, swelling and diarrhea.

The bottom line is that cigarettes have a wide range of little-known harmful effects on health and safety. Many Floridians avoid these problems when they quit smoking in Naples, Bonita Springs, Golden Gate or any other part of the Sunshine State.

A change of diet could very well be the first step to a healthier, stronger physique.

Quit Smoking

Even long term smokers can gain health benefits from quitting the smoking habit. There are various therapies people can use to help them stop smoking, ranging from individual nicotine patches and sprays to a complete stop smoking help kit in Florida. Stop Smoking Kits in Florida Enable Smokers to Quit

Essential stop smoking kits available in Florida can help people get rid of the habit in the comfort of their own homes. Without visiting a clinic, psychotherapy office or medical facility, people can take advantage of using herbs, homeopathic medicines and affirmative CDs. Components of the kit may interact unfavorably with prescribed medications and are not suitable for pregnant women. However, many people can benefit from kits filled with natural ingredients designed to counteract the smoking habit. While it is difficult to stop smoking, the fact is that numerous people kick the habit without looking back. People who are interested in overcoming their addictions to tobacco products may want to try using these convenient kits.

Benefit from Nutritional Supplements and Homeopathic Medicines

Unlike medications prescribed by a doctor, the kit contains multivitamin formulas and other natural remedies. People who want to take advantage of using the kits do not need to visit their doctors for medical prescriptions. Many users experience positive results within one week after beginning the program. Herbs and natural homeopathic remedies have been in existence long before the invention of modern medicines. Although contemporary medications can accomplish successful results in alleviating symptoms related to various diseases, some people experience negative side effects. Consumers who prefer natural ways to address the nicotine habit may benefit from ordering stop smoking kits shipped to their Florida residences.

Conquering the Smoking Habit is no Longer A Difficult Task

With the right tools, a person has the chance to quit smoking. Once a person succeeds, the lifestyle is noticeably improved. Furthermore, people who smoke cigarettes and cigars often do not realize the stench that is associated with their clothing. Those who are sensitive to the typical smell associated with cigarettes are often barely able to tolerate the odor. A persistent smoking habit can actually cause a person to lose opportunities for making new friends or forming romantic relationships. With the innovative kits that include CDs featuring encouraging and motivational messages, many smokers have finally found the answer to their prayers.

Live a Healthy Lifestyle Free From Tobacco Products

LIVE a HEALTHY LIFESTYLE FREE FROM TOBACCO PRODUCTS

It is difficult for the smoker to imagine living a lifestyle devoid of cigarettes. Besides the health factors related to cigarette smoking, people who are able to master their addictions end up saving more money for other important purposes. Residents who live in Florida may benefit from stop smoking kits.

Smoking: A Dangerous Habit

Despite the many warnings about the dangers of smoking, thousands of people cultivate the habit annually. Young adults, in particular, have much to lose by smoking. The following truths give greater insight into the dangers of smoking at an early age.

Health Hazards

The earlier people smoke, the greater the risk of contracting serious illnesses that can hinder their future. A young adult smoker may develop lung cancer or a serious respiratory illness before he or she reaches middle age. By impairing his or her health, smoking can completely alter a young person's future, taking away some of the best years of his or her life.

Addiction

As nicotine is highly addictive, young adult smokers run the risk of forming a deadly habit that can hinder their health for years to come. This addiction could very well lead to young people dying before their time. It's much more difficult for a person to break a smoking habit than it is to start. Even smoking a few cigarettes weekly can be dangerous, as the habit can take root and easily grow. Before long, smoking becomes a daily function that young people can't do without. Daily smokers run the risk of developing health problems that restrict their lifestyle, keeping them from living a full and happy life.

Physical Abilities

Smoking can have an adverse effect on a young person's athletic performance, keeping him or her from reaching his or her full potential. Budding athletes should be fully aware of what smoking can do to their athletic careers. Tobacco not only hinders blood circulation but strains the heart, causing it to work harder. Smoking also causes shortness of breath, hindering an athlete's ability to run or partake of activities that require a great deal of physical exertion.

Secondhand Smoke

Studies reveal that inhaling second hand smoke on a regular basis can be just as harmful as developing a smoking habit. A young adult's smoking habit could very well harm those around him, such as younger siblings or friends. Second hand smoke increases the risk of bronchitis, ear infections, asthma and other respiratory diseases. It's not uncommon for people who hang around smokers to suffer from more respiratory ailments than their non-smoking peers.

With the help of such aids as nicotine patches, gum, inhalers and stop smoking pills in Naples, smokers can kick the habit for good and get a new lease on life.

Counting the Oral Fixation When Quitting Smoking

Many smokers find themselves habitually snacking or eating when they first try to quit smoking. Often, this is because they are subconsciously mimicking the act of smoking, which involves placing something into their mouth. Quitting smoking isn't just about breaking a chemical dependency -- it's also about breaking habits. There are a few ways experts often suggest that smokers can counter their oral habits so they don't feel as tempted to smoke.

Lollypops and Hard Candies

The goal of reducing the oral fixation is to give the individual something to do with their mouth that doesn't lead to a significant caloric intake. To that end, lollypops and hard candies can take a while to dissolve and can take the place of a smoking habit. Smoking can become ritualized -- a smoker may be accustomed to walking out on their balcony and lighting a cigarette at the end of the day. By replacing the cigarette with candy in this ritual, the smoker may be able to avoid some of their most pressing urges.

Sunflower and Pumpkin Seeds

Seeds tend to be superb for smokers because they require a manual action -- shelling. As a smoker might light and puff on a cigarette, an individual who has quit will need to individually shell and eat their seeds. Sunflower and pumpkin seeds are very healthy compared to many other snacks, though they are calorie dense. The shells serve a secondary purpose of making sure that the seeds aren't eaten too quickly.

Vapes

Vaping isn't entirely without its dangers. Vape liquid can still contain nicotine, which can extend the process of quitting. Nevertheless, many smokers have successfully used vaping as a method of slowly reducing their nicotine intake over time. Vapes serve a dual purpose of delivering a small amount of nicotine and addressing the habit of smoking. Vape liquid can also be purchased that is flavored but doesn't contain any nicotine. Vaping does not require combustion, so it isn't as harmful to smokers as burning tobacco.

A quit smoking kit in Florida may be useful for smokers who need help. Smoking is one of the most difficult addictions to counter, in no small part because it becomes entrenched in an individual's day-to-day life. Having a kit and a strategy to follow can make the process easier.

Replacing Nicotine With Nicotine Is Not Our Answer

Replacing Nicotine With Nicotine Is Not Our Answer

Our philosophy is simple—in order to quit smoking, you have to get off the nicotine, and that can be VERY unpleasant for many smokers. So we wanted the Smoke Away program to be an all-natural solution that did not replace one expensive habit for another. The herbs in Smoke Away's Formula 1 work independently and synergistically to help your body rid itself of nicotine naturally, while at the same time keeping you calm and comfortable.

Smoke Away's Maintenance formula will help to replenish the vitamins and minerals that years of smoking have zapped out of your body, and the Aromatherapy is an all natural formula that is used to combat any urges you may get while you're becoming a non-smoker.

On this page, you're going to discover more about Smoke Away. You're also going to discover why you might be struggling to quit. Hint: It's not your fault.

But first ... here's an important question.

Are You Struggling to Quit Smoking? You're Not Alone ...

Are You Struggling to Quit Smoking? You're Not Alone ...

Unfortunately, 95% of people who try to quit ... fail.

However, each year, over 1.3 million smokers (that 5%) quit cigarettes for good ... and enjoy all the many health and social benefits of not smoking.

Fortunately, Smoke Away can help you join those 1.3 million who quit smoking every year.

Now let's take a look at ...

Cigarettes contain nicotine, as you know.

Nicotine is highly addictive ... as addictive as heroin and cocaine.

You'll find nicotine in tobacco and it enters the lungs when you smoke. It then enters your bloodstream

Nicotine is a stimulant and gives you a "buzz." That's because Nicotine also creates a pleasant feeling by releasing the neurotransmitter dopamine.

Unfortunately, when you try to quit, you get nasty withdrawal symptoms including dizziness, headaches, irritability, and insomnia.

To overcome these symptoms, guess what people do? They start smoking again.

The cigarette companies motivated you to start smoking. Or maybe it was peer pressure or just wanting to look cool.

Either way, the nicotine in cigarettes can make it extremely hard to quit smoking.

Want to quit? DESPERATE to quit ... let us give you ...

Some Straight Talk About the "Typical" Ways to Quit Smoking

There are lots of different ways to quit smoking. But ... there are lots of problems with each method. Let's take a look ...

Cold Turkey ... you just stop and hope for the best. It's highly unlikely you will tolerate the withdrawal symptoms ... especially in a "stressful" situation like being around other smokers or suddenly encountering a difficult situation.

Anti-depressants like Zyban and Wellbutrin SR. You might encounter unusual physical or emotional reactions ... plus side effects like dry mouth, insomnia, changes in appetite, agitation, and headaches.

Chantix. A prescription medicine that works on the part of the brain that nicotine attacks. You may have to take it for up to 6 months. There's a long list of side effects and Chantix does not work for everyone. Some people report having horrible nightmares and other psychological problems.

Nicotine replacement ... like Nicorette ... Nicotine nasal spray ... Nicotine inhaler (Nicotrol) ... Nicotine patch ... Nicotine lozenge (Commit). Yes, you might stop smoking, which is a good thing, but you ultimately want to get nicotine totally out of your life.

The #1 Reason to Quit Smoking ... It's Not About You ...

You know all the health benefits of quitting. It's why you're here on this page, looking for an alternative to the "typical" ways to quit.

It's highly likely you understand the financial impact of smoking. Quit ... and you can save approximately $6,100 a year depending on where you live and the cost of cigarettes in your area.

But here's the biggest reason to quit ... friends and family.

The impact of smoking is huge ... on the people around you. And one more thing ... the children of smokers are more likely to take up smoking than are children of nonsmokers ... according to the CDC and other reliable sources.

Need a big reason to quit? Look around at the people around you. And one more thing ... the children of smokers are more likely to take up smoking than are children of nonsmokers ... according to the CDC and other reliable sources.

Have you tried all the prescription drugs and other ways to quit?

Fortunately, there's an all-natural alternative ...

Want to Quit Smoking?

How to Join The 1.3 Million People Who Will Quit Smoking This Year

70% of People Who Smoke Want To Quit. Discover How to Be A Success Story ...

HEALTH WRITER

PLACE - If you want to quit smoking, there's good news and some bad news. The good news: over 1.3 million people in America quit smoking every year. The bad news: 30 million people try to quit. So the failure rate is, unfortunately, extremely high.

Why do some smokers succeed while others fail?

One reason is that nicotine is extremely addictive. More addictive, in fact, than heroin and cocaine. Once nicotine gets into a person's body, it's hard to get out. The cravings for nicotine can last for months after someone tries to stop smoking. The withdrawal symptoms can be severe.

That's good news for the cigarette companies. But it's bad news for smokers who want to get cigarettes out of their life.

Some people try to quit "cold turkey" which means stopping without the help of prescription medicines or anything else. This method rarely works due to the intensity of cravings and withdrawal symptoms.

Many people use prescription medicines. Some of these include nicotine. These can help someone stop smoking but the nicotine problem remains. Some prescription medicines that don't use nicotine can help but the side effects can include night sweats, nightmares, and even suicidal thoughts.

For many smokers, it was peer pressure that led them to start smoking. Peer pressure can also help people quit. It could be a family member who is providing the "motivation." Many smokers turn to online or in person support groups. This type of human contact and support can prove extremely effective.

A Solution That's Quietly Helped Tens of Thousands of People Quit

Fortunately, there's an alternative to nicotine substitutes, quitting cold turkey, and harsh prescription medicines

It's called Smoke Away and it's an all-natural 3-step program.

Part one provides natural solutions that help with cravings and withdrawal symptoms.

Part two helps the body recover from the health impact of smoking ... even for people who have been smoking for many years.

Part three provides "emergency" relief when a craving comes along

The ingredients in the Smoke Away program are completely natural. There are no side effects.

Smoke Away has been available for 20 years. Over 2 million people have trusted Smoke Away.

How to Save $50,000
