TicketsNow provides you with the service of locating tickets that typically are not available through standard channels. Our tickets are provided by individual listing sellers so the price you pay is often higher than the Face Value price printed on the ticket. There are no refunds, exchanges, or cancellations on any order once it is submitted to us. This policy is in place because when you purchase your tickets, we secure and acquire those tickets for you and are not able to recover our costs.

Please note that event dates and times printed on the face of the tickets are subject to change. This is especially true for sporting events. It is important that you check with your local media to ensure that you arrive at the event on the correct date and at the correct time. Also, when you receive your tickets, please keep them in a safe place. Unfortunately, tickets cannot be replaced if they are lost, stolen, or damaged.
